HARVARD ALUMNI FLEE CITY HEAT FOR FESTIVE REUNIONING PARTIES

Most of the five-year reunioning classes took no more than a registration look at Cambridge yesterday, before they sought cooler climes.

Some 250 green and white garbed "babies" hopped off for Swampscott at noon, rejoicing in the knowledge that "We are 10." This morning they return for a memorial service in Harvard's Memorial Church, conducted by the Rev. Robert L. Green of St. Luke's Church, Worcester, 1939's end and football captain. More understanding than most classes, 1939 invites its wives to a Kirkland House luncheon today.

Some 350 members of the Harvard Class of 1939 and their wives attended their 10th reunion dinner at Kirkland House, Cambridge, last evening.

Possibly the largest 10th reunion dinner ever held at Harvard, members included Cleveland Amory, author of The Proper Bostonians, and Benjamin Dillingham from Honolulu.

Harvard Graduates Arrive by Land, Sea For Costumed Parade, Game with Yale

The sun came out after noon yesterday and so did about 5000 of the sons of Harvard, their wives and sons and daughters. The alumni came out from their reunion luncheons to join the costumed and hat-banded parade across Larz Anderson bridge to Soldiers Field and the baseball game with Yale.

The green and white romper-clad 1939 was Harvard's "lost" class. It never had a reunion until this week. It was really "lost" in the parade, also, with only six in line carrying placards "Missed Our Third," "Missed Our Sixth" and "What About our Tenth?" The six "lost" babies found their answer out in left field when a hundred of their hoop rolling comrades broke from behind the stands, and the lost seemed adequately found.

SWAMPSCOTT, June 21—A program of sports, including softball and tennis, marked the reunion of the Harvard class of '39 at the Hotel Preston here today.

A banquet followed in the evening in the hotel ballroom.

Tomorrow the class will go to Harvard Memorial Church, where Rev. Robert L. Green, captain of the '39 football team and class marshal, will conduct memorial services for 42 members of the class who died in World War II.

After the services the class meeting, election and installation of officers will be held.

HARVARD '39 HAS FIRST REUNION

Boasting the biggest turnout of any 10-year reunion class, over 300 members of the Harvard class of 1939 held their final reunion dinner at Kirkland House last night.

The 10-year graduates were enjoying their first reunion, since war prevented their gathering for their third and sixth reunions.

Following a memorial service in Harvard's Memorial Church yesterday morning, the class elected new officers for their class committee. They are: Winthrop Jameson, Jr., Belmont, chairman; F. A. Harding, Jr., Dedham; Dr. George M. Olive, Jr., Belmont; Richard Sullivan, Princeton, N. J.; H. Rush-ton Harwood, Jr., Woburn; David A. Mittel, Jr., Wellesley; the Rev. Robert L. Green, Worcester, and John C. Jones, III, Brookline.

Alumni Take Over the Day At Harvard

By RICHARD MILLER

Harvard's alumni, from the 50-year men of the Class of 1899 to the Class of 1946, three years out, took over Cambridge today on the fourth day of Commencement Week, with classes meetings and luncheons, a memorial service and the famous alumni parade before the Harvard-Yale baseball game.

'39 SETS RECORD

The Class of 1939, 250 strong, returned today from a nouting at Swampscott to attend memorial services in Harvard's Memorial Church, conducted by the Rev. Robert L. Green of St. Luke's Church, Worcester, captain of the 1939 football team.

The '39's have broken all records for 10-year reunions, since their earlier reunions were cancelled by the war. Although the tenth reunion is traditionally stag, they were kind enough to invite their wives to a luncheon at Kirkland House today.

David Mittel is 1939 reunion chairman, assisted by John C. Jones, III, George D. Aldrich, A. Ross Borden, Ralph Willard, Jr., Winthrop Jameson, Jr., F. Austin Harding, C. Haven Ladd, H. R. Harwood, Jr., Dr. George M. Olive, Jr., and L. W. Carstensen.

Among the members of the class are author Cleveland Amory of "Proper Bostonians" fame, composer and conductor Leonard Bernstein, and George Akerson, Jr., assistant to the publisher of The Herald and Traveler.

Reunions Make the Beer Go 'Round .

It started—the way it always does—an hour before game time. The Band, the oldest Class (1899 this year, fielding an amazing number of spry reunioners), the 25 year class only slightly canned, and everybody younger rolling 'on beer kegs.

No Trouble

"We had no trouble recognizing each other" chortled one sign precariously carried by two 1939 men who looked as if they wouldn't know their own fathers if they happened to walk into them.

More than baseball was played at Soldiers Field yesterday.

This Scrapbook of our 10th Reunion Festivities is a pictorial record of the fun we had during our first honestogod reunion. Primarily designed to preserve the gaytime we had, we hope also, it will recall for those unable to attend, the memory of friendships made during College years.

But more than a pictorial record, may this Scrapbook preserve the names of those many classmates who volunteered and contributed their bit that climaxed ours as "the largest decennial reunion in Harvard history."

In all, there were thirteen committees and sub-committees as follows: Costume, Finance, Hotel, Intermediate Activities, Ladies, Liquor, Photographic, Program, Publicity, Regional Representative, Scrapbook, Sports, Transportation. The largest of these was the Regional Representative, and the listing below shows this and the Ladies committee separately. All other committee members are grouped together, inasmuch as many of them served faithfully on three or four different committees.

We worked as an integrated team. That we can justifiably pride ourselves on being a good team, is due solely to the outstanding leadership of our skipper, Dave Mittell.

Russell Agrees To Pay Damages At Swampscott

Initial Breakage Loss Set at $8000
Total Mounting Hourly Hotel Says

Tim Russell announced this morning that all bills for damages, both to hotel property and class members personal property, and class members personal property, should be forwarded to him.

"A very gracious thing to do," commented Dave Mitchell, reunion chairman.

'Football Films' Wonderful, Class Says

"We certainly would have gone out for football if we had known it was like that," members of the class of 1939 said last night after watching the "football movies."

Chief Boston did a creditable job of commenting on one of the reels. However, no one commented on the others.

It was reported that Harwood who got the films, still thinks the HAA office is in Scollay Square.

Class Meets First Time In 10 Years

The walls of the Hotel Preston in Swampscott bulged permanently early this morning as nearly 200 reunion-starved members of Harvard's famous class of 1939 got together for the first time in 10 years.

Minus wives, also for the first time in many years, the class let loose. Only four hardy souls made it for breakfast this morning.

The day started shortly after noon with softball and drinking, golf and drinking, bathing and drinking and just plain porch sitting and drinking.

After the banquet, married only by a five minute "30 second" speech by Russell, there were "football movies" and drinking, poker and drinking and drinking.

Olive Drives Truck on Memorial Drive, Keeps 10 Patients Waiting in Office

Dr. Olive not only kept customers stewing in his office yesterday but violated all laws of the Metropolitan District Commission by driving along sacred Memorial Drive in a truck. The truck was loaded with straw hats and other junk necessary for the costumes of the class of 1939.

Olive designed the costumes himself and takes all blame for everything connected with them.

10 YEARS OUT, and making the most of it at their first reunion is this Harvard foursome of the Class of 1939 at Hotel Preston, Swampscott, yesterday. Seated, H. Rush-ton Harwood, Jr., permanent class committee, and David A. Mittell, reunion chairman. Standing, R. H. Sullivan, first marshal, and A. Ross Borden, treasurer.

SEVEN MAN LINE for Harvard, 1939, at Swampscott yesterday. The catch is three of them were backfield men, and two didn't play at all. Do you remember (to right) Stuart Zimmon, Rick Hedblom, Chief Boston, Ben Smith, Win Jameson, T. Russell and Michael Chose?

The dignified alumni portrayed on this page are reunion celebrants preparing to make a triumphant appearance at the second Yale baseball game which was held on Soldiers Field on the afternoon of June 22. Above are a trio from the Class of 1939 whose "life began at graduation." The ten year Class had the largest decennial reunion in Harvard history and brought out 250 Class mates and 94 wives for the baseball game.
